Approved For Release 2002/07/15: CLA ROPSO-00570/0009007000224 ROPIC MILITARY INCO mation from Dessau-Rosslau PILITARY INCO MATERIAL MATERI	EC TORONTO PROPERTY THE PERSON WHICH
DATE OBTAINED DATE OBTAINED DATE PREPARED 12 March 1953 REFERENCES PAGES 2 ENCLOSURES (No. & 17FE) REMARKS 1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black expulleds with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undevernined number tenks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en routs toward Luko. Scurce expressed the bellef that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant truining, and six morters were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibicus vehicles were in the area north of the installation. C 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuchmau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 18 January and 18 Jebruary, small-see engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 16 and 16 February, banks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
DATE OF CONTENT DATE OBTAINED DATE PREPARED 12 March 1953 REFERENCES PYGES 2 ENCLOSURES (No. a Type) REMARKS 1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Roselau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered blace equalets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number the latence of the practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 thanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Sta 76.2-mm field guns, each was a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infantivalining, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehmau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, small-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and 1-second black epaulets with and 1-second black epaulets	da ellerinasystemativas variant est o t
PLACE ORTAINED DATE OF CONTENT CATE OBTAINED DATE OBTAINED DATE PREPARED 12 March 1953 REFERENCES PLOSE 2 ENCLOSURES (No. a Type) REMARKS 1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Roselau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered blace equulets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number that the following the following line of the condition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen are route toward Luke. Scurce expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 thanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Star 76.2-mm field guns, each was a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six morters were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. C 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehmau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the are south of the Elbe River near Kuehmau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-sec engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 16 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
DATE OBTAINED DATE PREPARED 12 March 1953 REFERENCES PYGES 2 ENCLOSURES (No. & TYPE) REMARKS 1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Roselau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered blad epullets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number has been belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-1CO guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each with a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops arred with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops arred with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuchnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, and undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the area south of the Elbe River near Kuchnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-sec engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 16 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.	n men menus bergindari Picato
DATE DETAINED	A BARONIO SINI A A CARROLINI SINO AN
DATE PREPARED 12 March 1953 REFERENCES PROSE 2 ENCLOSURES (No. a type) REMARKS 1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed were red-bordered blar epullets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tanks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantomment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed were red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the are south of the Eibe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-see engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.	1
1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was coupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tenks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen on route toward luke. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant truining, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuchnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 Jenuary to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the are south of the Elbe River near Kuchnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-sce engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was coupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tenks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen on route toward luke. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant truining, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuchnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 Jenuary to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the are south of the Elbe River near Kuchnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-sce engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered blace equilets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tenks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen on route toward Luko. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant truining, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed were red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the are south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-sce engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered blad epaulets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tenks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-1CO guns were seen en route toward Luko. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-1CO guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six morters were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed were red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-1CO guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the are south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-sce engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.	IN RESERVE AND PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE
1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black equilets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tanks practiced driving at the fordemolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Scurce expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infamt training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the area south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-set engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.	å nampus er en en en en en
1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black equilets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tanks practiced driving at the fordemolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Scurce expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infamt training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the area south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-set engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.	**************************************
1. On 18 February 1953, the barracks installation in Rosslau, in the area between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black equilets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tanks practiced driving at the fordemolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Scurce expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each was crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infamt training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibious vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the area south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-set engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area. between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tanks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each wis a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibicus vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 Jenuary to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the area south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-see engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tanks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each wis a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibicus vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 Jenuary to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the area south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-see engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.	C: Girafferuniko bida i samujo jagvaj between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tanks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each wis a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibicus vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 Jenuary to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the area south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-see engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
between the railroad line to Wittenberg and Highway No 187, was occupied by about 5,000 to 6,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery and tank insignia. From 5 to 18 February, an undetermined number tanks practiced driving at the for demolition place, and four SU-100 guns were seen en route toward Luko. Source expressed the belief that about 50 to 60 tanks and about 20 SU-100 guns were in the installation. Six 76.2-mm field guns, each wis a crew of 12 to 15 men, were seen on the road to Coswig. On 17 February, about 500 troops armed with carbines and submachine guns received infant training, and six mortars were seen at the road to Coswig. About 12 amphibicus vehicles were in the area north of the installation. 2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 Jenuary to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the area south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-see engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
2. On 16 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau and west of Dessau was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 January to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the are south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-see engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.	itry was occupied by about 2,000 troops. Sentries observed wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. From 26 Jenuary to 3 February, an undetermined number tanks and SU-100 guns were in the camp. On 26 January, about 400 soldiers were engaged in field training in the are south of the Elbe River near Kuehnau and, on 1 and 3 February, small-sce engineer practices were observed on the Elbe River. Between 10 and 16 February, tanks were being maintenanced by troops in the barracks area.
	i n- nea cale
	,
3. On 9 February, the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau was occupied to capacity by troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including some with tank insignia. Six tanks left the installation.]
-	,
A 1. Comment. The bulk of the 7th Gds Tank Div can be confirmed in thei known quarters until mid-February 1953. This in formation tends to indicate that the cantonment east of Gross Kuehnau is occupied by a medium tank regiment of the division. Thus, the barracks installation in Rosslau should be occupied by the hea

2	5	X	1	Α

Approved For Release	2002/07/15:	CIA-RDP80-0)0810A000900790002-	-4

SECREM

--2.--

division which would roughly correspond to the information on tanks observed in the installation, although the number of tanks is underestimated. The amphibious vehicles possibly belong to the 12 st (?) Gds Engr En of the 7th Gds Tank Div.

SECRET